Ireland's Housing Crisis:
Looking from Abroad

Many people cannot find affordable places to live, and more families are becoming homeless. Even though Ireland is a rich country, this problem is getting worse. The talk will explain the causes, effects, and what people are doing to help. As someone who grew up in Ireland but now lives abroad, I will also share my personal thoughts about this important issue.

Myths, Facts, and Opinions about Guns in America

Do most Americans own guns? Are some Americans against guns? The issue of guns in the United States is a serious topic. The right for Americans to own guns is protected by the Second Amendment of the U.S. Constitution. However, gun violence, including mass shootings, has raised concerns across the country. The issue has become complex and contentious. It involves legal, political, and social dimensions. Let's learn more about this issue in an interesting and informative way.
